A Semester Course in Economics

Wednesdays 8:15-10:00 a.m. – Feb. 3-June 9 (except April 7)

LEARN WISE FINANCIAL PRINCIPLES...

...in economic systems. Compare today's economic systems with the principles taught in God's Word. Which economic systems best take sinful human nature into account and turn it around for good? How and why does that work? How does biblical economics reflect the omniscience and omnipotence of God? What are the similarities and differences of the proposed solutions of political leaders? What traits do they need for their "solutions" to be successful?

...in practical stewardship. Is the stock market an accurate barometer of the general economy? Why or why not? It certainly affects our retirement accounts. This course prepares students for stewardship of their earnings, including long-term retirement planning, by providing a basic review of strengths and weaknesses of companies and how their stock price is affected. It also includes a basic overview of the methods to avoid BIG losses. (If enough parents are interested, we can hold an evening session or two on this as a bonus for enrolling your students.)

Teacher Bob Pegram has experience in accounting, appraising and investing.
